

SALON 94

artnet® news

On View

From a Turner Prize Winner to a Mysterious Viral Prankster, Meet 6 Artists Making Their New York Solo Show Debuts This Fall

Kicking off the new season with artists showing their work in the city for the first time.

Sarah Cascone & Caroline Goldstein, September 11, 2018

2. "Nathaniel Mary Quinn: The Land" at Salon 94

Nathaniel Mary Quinn, The Borrower (2018). Image courtesy of Salon 94 and the artist. Nathaniel Mary Quinn's first solo show at the gallery shines a light on his rapidly gentrifying neighborhood of Crown Heights, Brooklyn. Quinn considers himself an adoptee of the area, with most residents having put down roots decades before, and he treats the subjects of his portraits with deference, abstracting their features and layering in his feelings toward them.

243 Bowery, 1 Freeman Alley; September 7–October 27, 2018, opening reception 6 p.m.–8 p.m.